

Representative SDI-Authorship-Dispute-Resolution-Policy

Representative Policy for Authorship before publication

Any change in the authorship (such as addition or deletion of author(s) or change in the sequence of author list) should be intimated to the editorial office through a letter signed by all authors before publication of the paper. In absence of any signed letter, approval of 'Galley proof' by corresponding author will work as 'final agreement of authorship'. Generally any change in the authorship after final publication, is not entertained and COPE guidelines are followed for any dispute.

Representative Policy for Authorship After publication

Generally any change in the authorship after final publication, is not entertained. But if dispute resolution is absolutely necessary then below mentioned SDI policies and COPE guidelines are followed.

Kindly follow these representative guideline steps and for more information visit our journal pages and COPE site.

1. Each existing author (as published in the paper), should explain in details the reasons for change in authorship. Each existing author should write separately this letter in the present university letter head and sign and clearly scan the letters and send us to our official mail ID (editor@sciencedomain.org) from their official mail ID. In order to prove that these are their official mails, each author should send soft copy of their own published paper, where these email IDs are printed or send us the link of their official homepage in their university website, where these emails IDs are available or any certificate from HOD about authenticity of this email ID.

2. Each new author should write to us that what contribution he/she has made to this paper and why he/she wants to establish and get his/her authorship. Each new author should write separately this letter in the present university letter head and sign and clearly scan the letters and send us to our official mail ID (editor@sciencedomain.org) from their official mail ID. In order to prove that these are their official mails, each author should send soft copy of their own published paper, where these email IDs are printed or send us the link of their official homepage in their university website, where these emails IDs are available or any certificate from HOD about authenticity of this email ID.

3. Corresponding author should write to us that what contribution new author(s) has made to this paper and why existing authors should be excluded. Corresponding author should also explain that why he/she has approved the final galley proof with disputed authors, which is normally considered as certificate of agreement of authorship, as per journal's rule. Corresponding author should write separately this letter in the present university letter head and sign and clearly scan the letters and send us to our official mail ID (editor@sciencedomain.org) from his/her official mail ID. In order to prove that this is his/her official mail, corresponding author should send soft copy of his/her own published paper, where these email IDs are printed or send us the link of his/her official homepage in their university website, where this email ID is available or any certificate from HOD about authenticity of this email ID.

5. If SDI editorial office receives written signed consent from all existing and new authors, as explained above, then "Final Authorship" will be changed and published.

If we don't get written signed consent from all existing and new authors, as explained above, then the following steps (6&7) will be followed.

6. Corresponding author should send the complete mailing address and email IDs (of each existing and new author's) of their respective 1. Head of the department 2. Vice-Chancellor/Director/Rector of university (with webpage link).

7. Our editorial office will officially request top most authority of each university to investigate this case of "Authorship dispute". Depending on the investigation result of each respective university and their recommendation "Final authorship" will be decided and will be changed accordingly in the paper.

This journal would not be responsible for any dispute related to authorship of a submitted/published paper.

All the documents (as per the editorial policy of this journal) should reach to editorial office to initiate any action.
